Research, IT and Writing Internships near Kandy

Internship opportunities are available for who are pursuing diplomas/degrees in physical science, engineering, water resources and agricultural research, programming/IT/Instrumentation and nonfiction or science writing work to support a non-profit research think-tank. Exceptional school leavers shall be considered too.

The ideal person should be a versatile, reliable and conscientious individual keen to develop skills in their areas of study and in new ones. Interns must have good writing skills in English. The desirable skills is described in vacancy notices for Researcher, Programmer and Writing positions at www.climate.lk/vacancies.html. An Intern should be in the process of acquiring the essential skills.

FECT is a non-profit scientific, engineering, and socio-economic research organization which undertakes publishing, advocacy, training and education with offices 10 km North (Akurana) and 17 km East of Kandy (Digana).

To apply, send a curriculum vitae, cover letter and names of two referees who know your past work. Applicants shall be received until the post is filled.
